

About the Farr 40

History

In March 1997, the first Farr 40 hull was launched at Carroll Marine in Newport, Rhode Island. There are now 160 boats sailing in 20 countries.

The class has raced at some of the most famous yacht racing venues in the world, including Porto Cervo, Newport, San Francisco, Chicago, St. Tropez, Miami, Cowes and, of course, Sydney Harbour.

One of the keys to the success of the class is that it is incorporated and run as a business, not as a "club". Owners include successful businessmen and women, heads of state, private and public sector professionals and others from all walks of life.

The Farr 40 World Championships are sanctioned by the International Sailing Federation, meaning that the successful owner and crew are entitled to call themselves World Sailing Champions. 2011 will be the 14th official World Championship for the Class, highlighting its strength and popularity.

One Design Class Rules

Strict One Design rules ensure cost controls on equipment and personnel and fair racing. The owner must steer the boat and be an ISAF ranked amateur.

The maximum crew weight with a maximum of 10 people onboard is 760kgs. Only four of the crew can be professionals. The remainder must be ISAF ranked amateur sailors

Each hull is allowed nine sail buttons per calendar year in the open division, while the Corinthian Division is allowed only two professional crew onboard and three sail buttons per calendar year.

Performance in all conditions... Bluestreak - proven sail battens

The ocean is about as changeable a thing as you can get. And rigging for all conditions in either racing or cruising is a challenge that many never master.

So what's that got to do with sail battens?

One product that does make it a lot easier is Bluestreak. These tough, durable lightweight sail battens have been tested on all the oceans of the world in all conditions for three decades. Manufactured from high-grade fibres and vinyl-ester resins, cured under controlled conditions and then precision-ground to an exact profile, Bluestreak race-proven sail battens extract the drive from your sails that the sail-maker designed-in. That particular curve they enforce in the sail is the exact aerofoil required to provide optimum performance across all conditions.

So while your seamanship, helmsmanship or conduct generally may sometimes be called into question, your ability to choose the right equipment never will ...

Fast forward

Challenge and change... it's what drives North Sails technology relentlessly forward. It means your next North sail will be faster, more durable and easier-to-use than the one you had before. Call your North Sails representative today and put the proven power of North on your boat!

NEW TECHNOLOGY FROM NORTH

The latest in North's 3D thermo-moulded lineup is 3Di™, the first composite sail made of 100% fiber and adhesive with NO FILM! We call 3Di a "film-free foil" because its minimal stretch allows the sail to approach the performance of a rigid airfoil.

North's patented new Radian™ warp-oriented polyester sailcloth delivers low-stretch radial performance, easy handling and superior mildew resistance in a non-laminated fabric. If you want more speed from a woven sail...THIS IS BIG!

North's industry-leading NDS™ Design Software Suite adds new modules for optimizing sails, rigs and hulls to ratings, sailing conditions and courses. It's used by yacht designers, project managers and boatbuilders for projects ranging from foiler Moths to SuperYachts.

North's new PolySpin™ is the only line of low-stretch polyester spinnaker fabrics woven of high-tenacity polyester yarn across the entire range of available weights. A unique new finishing process also results in class-leading durability.
